Hi Wei Koon,

I would like to offer my congratulations on your new job and position.

No one has done more to deserve the honour, or has worked harder to promote our interest. I am making a point of writing to you in order to express our sincere appreciation for the manner in which, you and every member of your staff in ICH Consulting has maintained consistently excellent standards of service throughout our association over the past 6 months.

In short, you have gone beyond your professional duties by EXPRESSING your concerns with regards to the overall health and well being of LITHO-LAV PRODUCTS PTE LTD.

I would also like to add my own appreciation. The introductions you made for our company and the contacts and information that we have gained will be extremely useful in our expansion programme.

Kindly convey our gratitude to all the people concerned, of whom you have good cause to be proud.

You can count on me and my company to give you any assistance you require in your new job, and I wish you every success for the future.
Do keep in-touch.
